case study

Client: community college

Purpose: orientation leader appreciation

A community college wanted a way to thank their new student orientation leaders. They had noticed the trend for students to use fanny packs around campus, so they opted for the KAPSTON® Willow Recycled Fanny Pack. They knew it would be useful during orientation and that the student leaders would appreciate that it's made of RPET fabric. When administration got wind that many new students were interested in purchasing a fanny pack of their own, they added them to their bookstore offerings.
